

Updates

I hope your summer was both relaxing and rejuvenating. Whether you've been back at work for a month or are just starting school, here's to an exciting and adventurous 2024-2025!

The board took a brief summer hiatus but reconvened two weeks ago, and we're brimming with enthusiasm for the year ahead. We're eager to dive into new projects and opportunities with all of you.

Mel and Wilmonda are diligently preparing for the NSLDHH Conference scheduled for June 23-26 at the Florida School for the Deaf and Blind. We're finalizing the registration details, and we've been receiving a flurry of inquiries. Rest assured, we will send out the registration and hotel information in October. A big thank you to Roddy, our past conference chair, for his invaluable feedback and suggestions. Should you have any questions once you receive the registration details, Skye, our secretary, will be available to assist you.

Matt is busy setting up our upcoming webinar series, with our first session launching in October. Keep an eye out for flyers and topic announcements. Meanwhile, Baranda is hard at work on the Student Life Certification. For any certification-related questions, she's your go-to person.

This newsletter marks the start of our monthly updates and information sharing. Please spread the word among your Student Life colleagues—let's make this conference and the year ahead as impactful and exciting as possible!

Looking forward to a fantastic year together.

Warm regards,

Eva

For those welcoming new Student Life staff members, we'd love to introduce them to our community. Please send their names and photos to Dee Mills and Erin Fernsler. If you'd like to showcase your entire Student Life Team, feel free to send a group photo to them as well. We'll highlight these new faces on our website and Instagram.

For any new Directors of Student Life, make sure to forward their details to Peggy Ann so she can include them in our email distribution list.
